The county elections offices lists each of the above candidates as living in Southport, the southern half of the city. The two seats up for election belong to Beers and to Carolyn Castillo Pierson, who will not seek re-election. The term for a council member is four years.

The final list of candidates for mayor of West Sacramento is:

Cabaldon lists an address near River City High School, and Lasell lists an address in the northwest, "Bryte" neighborhood. The term of mayor is two years.

Geivett entered the race late. He is the former principal of River City High School and now serves as principal in a school in another district.

The two open seats in the school board race belong to incumbents David Farmer and Kevin Jones, who are not running again. School board terms are four years.

Unexpected guests

Adam Keomeuangsong is waiting to see if the government believes he broke any laws. An immigrant and longtime U.S. resident, he has a full-time job and also owns Keo's Video in West Sacramento

At about 11 a.m. on Wednesday, a few minutes before Adam Keomeuangsong arrived at work at his Asian video store, his shop had some unexpected visitors. The visitors forced open the store's door, breaking a lock, cutting an alarm cable and possibly damaging the alarm controls. They weren't burglars, though – the visitors were part of a task force that included the FBI, IRS, California Department of Justice and regional police, all looking for evidence of an illegal and informal lottery network they believed was present in the region.

Keomeuangsong was not arrested, although accused husband/wife "ringleaders" in Sacramento and four other people were, after raids that included a reported eight Sacramento businesses, one in Fresno and "Keo's Video" on the 1000-block of West Capitol Avenue in West Sacramento."

The authorities did seize office equipment and paperwork from Keo's Video.

Keomeuangsong was detained during the search, but released. He declined to comment to the News-Ledger, saying he did not have an attorney and was uncertain whether he faced legal trouble.

A Sacramento Bee report said authorities believe the lottery collected about $800,000 per month in bets based on the state lottery's "Daily 3" drawings."

Bill giving city control of port clears leg-islature

Assemblywoman Lois Wolk's office announced Monday that the state assembly just concurred with the senate's changes to AB 2939, and voted 72-0 in favor of the bill officially giving governance of the Port of Sacramento to West Sacramento.

The bill awaits the signature of Governor Schwarzenegger.

"It's a big deal for the turnaround of the port that's already underway," said Mayor Christopher Cabaldon of West Sacramento, who also sits on the board of directors for the port. "We've seen significant interest from people who want to ship in and out of the port now that we're taking over administrative responsibility. We're not out of the woods yet (financially), but we're making progress."

West Sacramento has partnered with the Port of Oakland to help turn the ailing Port of Sacramento around.

Cabaldon said that the governor has not taken a public position on the port bill yet, but no obvious obstacles exist to Schwarzenegger's support.

School board to plan growth

The school board of the Washington Unified School District will meet in open session at 7 p.m. Thursday at the civic center. Agenda items include approval of a new assistant principal position at Golden State Middle School, approval of a "joint use agreement" between the city and district involving property at the planned new high school; changes to the new high school plans and approval of the district's facilities action plan.

Enforcing DUI

Eight local law enforcement agencies and one dispatch agency have formed a partnership and received a $261,000 grant from the Office of Traffic Safety for special operations including enforcement of drunken driving laws. The agencies include the West Sacramento Police Department as well as those in Davis, Winters, Woodland and UC Davis, and Yolo County agencies and the C.H.P.

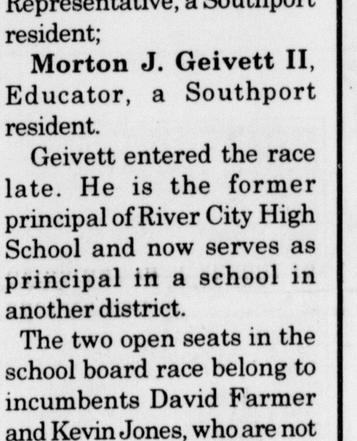

The grant will be paid over three years, and will fund activities such as sobriety checkpoints and warrant patrols for multiple DUI offenders. Enforcement will focus on holidays such as Memorial Day, Labor Day, July 4 weekend and the winter holidays.

The task force is nicknamed "AVOID THE EIGHT."

Lasell will challenge Cabaldon for West Sac mayor's post

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

MARY LASELL: 'I felt that people need an option. (Cabaldon) was going to run unopposed.'

She's a familiar face, but a newcomer to your ballot:

Mary Lasell will challenge established mayor Christopher Cabaldon for his seat this fall.

Lasell, 49, is a familiar figure at meetings of the West Sacramento City Council and the local school board, often speaking out to challenge local leaders. Why is she running for mayor?

"I felt that people need an option," said Lasell. "He was going to run unopposed."

Lasell's civic history is mostly informal – she does not have a lengthy history in city office or on boards or commissions.

"For example, I am block captain of the neighborhood watch where I am (in the city's northwest)," said Lasell. "I have volunteered at my daughter's school. And just recently I was on the superintendent selection committee for the school district."

She is happy with city progress in some respects.

"Anything that benefits the city as a whole is a good thing," she commented. "I know we have more shopping now. Other people like that. And River Walk Park is nice."

But she wants to make West Sacramento's government more answerable.

"I know we need more police officers and more firefighters, and a big issue is that we need accountability. The city needs to be accessible, needs to be transparent and needs to earn the community's trust. When a resident calls the city, we need to get a call back, even if it's to say, 'I don't know what the answer is, but I'm looking.'"

How seriously does the current mayor take the challenge?

"Very seriously," Mayor Cabaldon told the News-Ledger. "The reason why voters made the change two years ago to make the mayor directly-elected was, I feel, to use the election of the mayor as a referendum on the future of the city. I'm going to be running a vigorous campaign."

SILVER: Yolo County's exhibit honored at state fair

From the County of Yolo

Yolo County Board of Supervisors Vice-Chair Mariko Yamada

Yolo County Board of Supervisors Chairman, Frank Sieferman, Jr. proudly received a silver ribbon August 11 for this year's California State Fair exhibit, entitled "Yolo County: Ship of Plenty." The exhibit, displaying the extensive operations of the Port of Sacramento and the value of rice in Yolo County, included a cargo ship with a working crane and numerous rice plants and products. The port itself is located in West Sacramento.

California produces about 20% of the country's rice, the second highest amount in the United States. Rice is the number-two agricultural commodity in Yolo County, which exports over 175,000 tons each year, yielding more than $41 million annually.

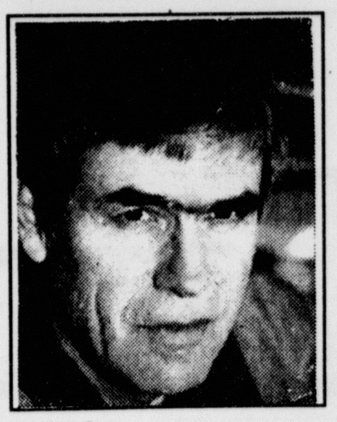

Also included in this year's Yolo County exhibit are television monitors providing images of the rice production cycle, beginning with planting in the fields to departure of rice product from the Port of Sacramento in West Sacramento, bound for Pacific Rim countries. Those visiting Yolo County's booth in Building A of the California State Fair will find additional information about the significance of rice as both an agricultural commodity in Yolo County and as a nutritional food source here and in the rest of the world.

"Each year we try to develop a unique, entertaining and informational theme for our State Fair exhibit, which spotlights Yolo County's character" said Chairman Sieferman, Jr. "This year's booth is no exception. Pairing our down-home, farm-based economy with our international trade connection to the Pacific Rim was a brilliant combination. Our volunteer State Fair Exhibit Committee has once again hit a home run."

Remembering West Sac resident Bob Lukins

Note: Bob Lukins, who lived in West Sacramento for more than 75 years, passed away this past week at the age of 84. Almost a decade ago I wrote an article for the News-Ledger about Bob and his lovely wife, Rena, and with the permission of the Lukins' family, I am reprinting it below in honor of Bob's memory. It was hard-working, community-minded, dedicated family men like Bob Lukins who helped make West Sacramento such a great place to live and he will be greatly missed by all those who knew and loved him.

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

In 1929, Robert Richard Lukins' father sold his farm in Iowa and moved the family to West Sacramento. He bought two and a half acres of land on Glide Avenue, right behind the DeAnda family farm.

"I was only seven-years old at the time," recalled Bob, "but I liked West Sacramento right away. A few years later, we moved to Broderick and I lived there until I graduated from high school."

Bob also enjoyed his years in Broderick, mostly because it was the home of pretty young Rena Brunelli.

"I've known Rena since I was 12-years old," said Bob with obvious affection in his voice. "She lived only a block and a half away from me, and to tell you the truth, once I met Rena, there was never another girl for me."

Bob and Rena were only 18-years old when they decided to go to Reno and get married.

"Our families were a little worried that we were too young," said Bob, "but we really wanted to get married. I guess after all these years together and five children, you can say it was a pretty good decision."

Just as Bob and Rena were beginning to start their lives together, World War Two erupted. Rena went with Bob from camp to camp while he was stationed stateside and training in places like Kentucky and Tennessee, but when he departed for Europe in 1944, there was nothing to do but stay behind and wait.

"His letters would arrive in bunches," said Rena, "and most of them would have parts blacked out that the Army thought were top secret or something. Waiting for someone you love to come home from a war is not a very easy thing to live through."

Bob's unit landed in Marseilles, France a week after D-Day.

"I was a combat engineer," explained Bob, "and we were under General Patch's Seventh Army at first, and then later, we became part of General Patton's Third Army. We anchored the southern tip of Bastogne during the Battle of the Bulge and I ended up just outside of Munich, Germany when the war in Europe finally ended. I was scheduled to go home with 14 other medal winners to help sell war bonds (Bob was awarded the French Croix de Guerre and two bronze stars for valor while he was overseas), but when the atomic bomb dropped on Japan, everything came to an end and I was stranded in Europe until October."

When Bob finally did get back to West Sacramento, he and Rena bought a home on 11th Avenue and Bob went into the construction business as a carpenter.

"There wasn't much to West Sacramento back in 1946," recalled Rena. "In fact, I can remember getting up in the mornings and having to shoo away some of the cows that had wandered across Park Boulevard and ended up in our yard."

By the 1950's Bob was a construction superintendent, overseeing the work on the sites of numerous important building projects in and around Sacramento. Over the years, he has worked on the California State Capitol, the Weinstocks building, the DMV building, the Sacramento Union, and the Railroad Museum, just to mention a few.

"My dad could have taken any number of really good paying jobs outside of the Sacramento area," said Bob's oldest son, Rod, "but he never wanted to be too far away from the family. He has always put his children and my mother first, and that's something I really admire about him."

Also in the 1950's, Bob, along with friends James Cameron, Jack Dunlap, Red McKinnon, and Art Edmonds, helped get the West Sacramento Little League started. He was the league's third president and coached and managed local youth baseball teams for decades.

Bob is an extremely proud charter member of VFW Post #8762 and was instrumental in getting the VFW Hall on Drever Street built. He was also active in Boy Scouts in West Sacramento and helped set up the Athletics Booster Club at James Marshall High School.

Bob and Rena have five children. Besides Rod, there are Gary, Joyce, Wayne and Pat. They also have eight grandchildren.

"My parents were the perfect role models," said daughter, Joyce. "My dad has an open mind and an open heart, and most important of all, he's always been there for all of his kids and grandkids when they needed him. And I can still remember how my mother used to wake us up in the mornings and ask each of us what we wanted for breakfast, and then go off and cook five different orders. Mothers like that are really hard to find."

"We've enjoyed raising our family in West Sacramento," said Rena. "We know so many wonderful people here. It's one of those places where you can always look up and see a friendly face."

"As far as I'm concerned," added Bob, "this has been the perfect place to live. I would never think of going anywhere else."

As you no doubt have heard, interest rates are on the rise. However, more important are those indexes tied to Adjustable Rate Mortgages (ARMs). Those ARMs have two factors: the margin and the index. The index is neutral, and the lender has no control over it. By adding the index & margin together, you have the "fully indexed rate."

The margin is a fixed number and will never move. The index movement is what makes your payment increase (or decrease. So if you have an ARM and your index is controlled by the LIBOR, MTA, COFI or other index, your payment may already have been affected. If you have one of the loans listed below, it may be time to rethink and reevaluate your current loan:

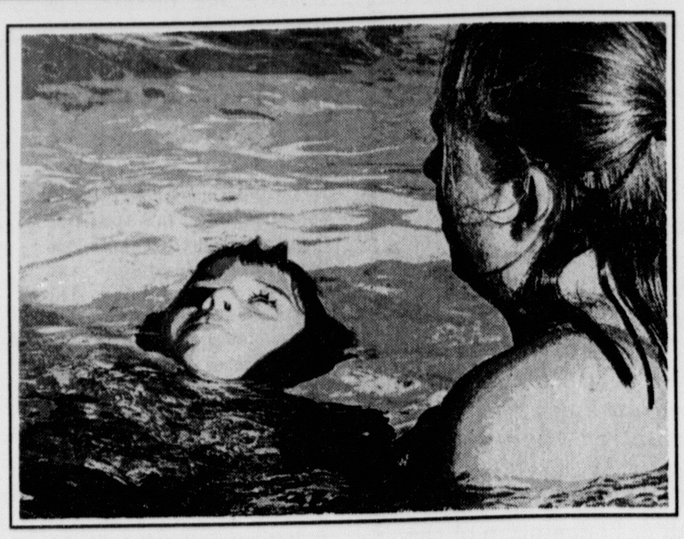

- A 3/1, 5/1, 7/1 or even a 10/1 interest-only loan
- An Adjustable Rate Mortgage
- An Option Arm Loan
- If you bought a home with a 100% loan: 80/20 LTV loan
- A sub-prime or "B" Loan 2/28, 3/27
- If you have a Home Equity Line of Credit (HELOC)

"I assumed they'd take care of my husband. I had no idea how well they'd take care of me."

Ed's death wasn't unexpected. But it was still hard on all of us. Fortunately, Ed had done the preplanning so all the important arrangements were already taken care of. But what surprised me was how much support and attention the funeral home gave me. They reassured me when I had questions, listened to me when I had something to say, and left me alone when I needed time alone. I can't say it was easy. I can't imagine it ever is. But I believe it was as easy as it could be. And for that I'm grateful.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

There must be better ways to save a tree

Could it be that a handful of local activists are more concerned about how the local school district spends its money than are the members of the school board?

Board member Barry Kalar recently suggested that the district "save some trees" by discontinuing the practice of publishing the details of each $5,000-or-greater school district expense into the board's agenda packets. These packets, and dozens of clones, are delivered to school sites, newspapers and other interested parties before each school board meeting. Kalar's colleagues consented to the suggestion. The district has thus put the agenda packets on a diet.

The new version includes only a summary of these significant expenses, and not enough information to answer basic questions. This wouldn't be a problem, except that, as in any large bureaucracy, there is waste and occasional fraud at WUSD. In the past, the details buried in some of these purchase orders helped shed some light on questionable practices at WUSD. The fewer the number of people who are watching, the more this kind of "fiscal sloppiness" will expand.

The purchase orders ought to be as public as possible – and viewing them shouldn't require a separate request to the district.

Perhaps the best of all worlds would be to allow anyone at all to view the purchase orders easily – perhaps online, at the district's website. But since that isn't possible now on the website, the best answer is to keep using up paper, and keep circulating the purchase order information. That way, the local activists who are continuing to ask for the information won't have to -- and won't be alone in getting it.

It's a shame to "spend" the paper from the trees. But a close watch on the money (something that ought to be a key duty of board members) will in the long run serve to save resources at Washington Unified.

"Sunshine" and "transparency" are worth the paper.

Letters to the Editor

We need better air quality

In an effort to reduce the wood-burning polluting particles in our air and thus improve our air quality, our Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District is offering users of non-conforming wood-burning stoves $200 to help users fund replacement stoves which meet code. The rebate offer lasts through September 30th, or until limited funds are exhausted. For more information, call (800)287-3650 or visit www.ysaqmd.org.

So besides cleaner air, less fuel (wood, pellets) to provide more heat equals monetary savings of as much as one-third the current costs.

It may take a new state or federal law, but why not apply the same logic to older homes' wood-burning fireplaces. Such modifications could be financed much like reverse mortgages. It seems like our air quality leaders could convince our lawmakers of the benefits of not only burning less wood -- and whatever else we burned in trash barrels prior to 1970 -- but pollution saved by not having to fetch the fuel if such homes were converted to natural gas burning. Code now calls for all new homes with fireplaces to be natural gas-fueled.

Yes, the pollution is most notable when it is cold and foggy. Without wind, that smoke is blanketed in and, with vehicle exhaust and other adverse factors, we inhale very unhealthy air.

And firewood, as we know it, could be ground into shavings for plywood, which would reduce the need for cutting trees significantly.

Story sounds fishy

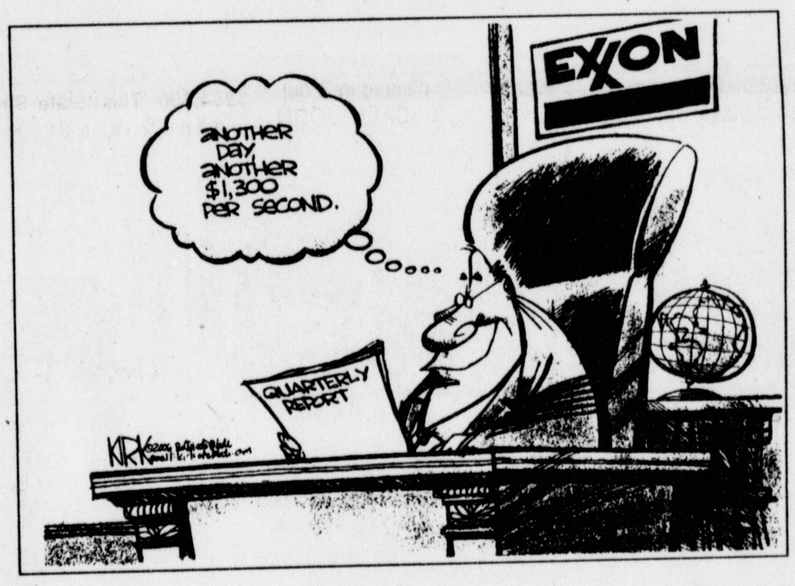

Reading, as an avid fisherman, the August 16,issue, I noted (in the "Bright Jewel" article regarding Cache Creek Canyon Regional Park by Yolo County's P.I.O. Ms. Gabor and UCD's intern Ms. Bellows) a partial listing of game fish available for recreational fishing that included "pike".

If this is the same species (Esox Lucius, or the Great Northern Pike) that were illegally planted in Davis Lake up near Portola, California a few years ago, then someone at D.F.G. has a lot of explaining to do as they've been desperately trying to eradicate the pike ever since they were discovered before they could spread up and down-stream to trout and salmon waters and decimate those fish populations through the pike's habit of voracious predation wherever they are found.

If, of course, this is in reference to the Walleye (Stizostedion vitreum vitreum, or Walleyed Pike, Pike-Perch, or Dore) which is a larger member of the perch family (Percidae) then I believe their article should have been somewhat more specific, since, as my late mother used to say, "That is a different kettle of fish." Could this be a case of the one hand (or branch of government) not knowing what the other is doing? Or is it simply a case of not knowing just what, in fact, they're talking about?

(NAPS)—Good news for homebuyers. The previously expanding mortgage-lending industry is undergoing a contraction. In fact, the Mortgage Bankers Association predicts the industry will shrink by 14 percent in 2006. That means lenders have to offer more discounts and incentives to win your business and you can take advantage. For more information, visit www.bankofamerica.com.

"Talladega Nights"

Running time: 105 minutes
MPAA rating: PG-13

"Talladega Nights" is Will Ferrell's latest comedy opus, and he's brought along the same team he used in the hilarious "Anchorman." Unfortunately, "Talladega Nights" doesn't score as many laughs as "Anchorman," and there's a dragging, mostly unfunny chunk of the third act — devoted to Ferrell's character reconciling with his rolling stone of a father (Gary Cole) — that brings The Funny to a screeching halt.

Ferrell stars as Ricky Bobby, a big hairy moron of a redneck driver whose motto is, "If You Ain't First, You're Last." He prays to Baby Jesus, because that's the version of the savior he likes best. His sons are Walker and Texas Ranger. His family's meals are catered by his sponsors (Taco Bell, KFC, Pizza Hut and Powerade).

Ricky Bobby is the King of NASCAR. He's so good, he even wins a race driving in reverse.

But Ricky Bobby's idyllic white-trash existence is threatened when the owner of his team hires the most un-NASCAR driver possible: A gay, French, "Formula Un" champion named Jean Girard (the brutally hilarious Sasha Baron Cohen). Girard is also an exceptional driver. He sips macchiato from a demitasse while driving, or reads Camus.

In their first race, Ricky Bobby crashes his car. Although unhurt, he thinks he's been paralyzed. He eventually loses his edge and is dropped from the team, and his hot wife (Leslie Bibb) divorces him and marries his longtime friend and driving partner Cal (John C. Reilly), so Ricky is forced to go back home to live with his mom and work as a pizza delivery guy.

This is where the film thuds to a halt. A good half-hour is spent focusing on

Will Ferrell

Ricky's dad trying to teach Ricky how to get his edge back, and Ricky trying to reconcile with his pop. There's also a subplot involving a romance between Ricky and his former personal assistant (the even-more-hot-than-Leslie-Bibb Amy Adams). Despite a few funny moments, I was really wishing that movie theaters had Tivo, so I could fast-forward to the last act.

Needless to say, Ricky gets his edge back, and heads for Talladega and a final confrontation with his nemesis from "Frenchland." The final race, like all the racing sequences in this movie, is spectacular.

I really wanted to give "Talladega Nights" a high grade, but it's only two thirds of a good movie. It's definitely worth a matinee (or a rental when it comes out on video), but I wouldn't pay full price.

Zipadelli Helps Steer Stewart Success

Q. Greg, I enjoy your racing columns very much. I am writing about Greg Zipadelli and his job as a crew chief for Joe Gibbs Racing and the Tony Stewart Home Depot car. What was his racing background before he came to NASCAR's Nextel Cup division, and what was his first job in Cup racing? — Henry H., retired, New Port Richey, Fla.

2-time Nextel Cup champion Tony Stewart listens intently to crew chief Greg Zipadelli. (Carolyn Kaster/Associated Press photo)

A. Henry, Greg Zipadelli is a Berlin, Conn., native who first began working on an asphalt Modified stock car owned by his father at the tender age of 7. Prior to his 15th birthday, Greg was helping prepare the modified race cars for his family-owned Sherwood Racing Team.

In 1988, at the age of 20, Zipadelli guided Mike "Magic Shoes" McLaughlin to the NASCAR Winston Modified Series Championship. The team won five times and scored 15 top-five finishes. (The series is now known as the Whelen Modified Tour). Two years later, McLaughlin was offered a ride in the NASCAR Busch North Series with well-known New England car owner Mike Greci. At the request of McLaughlin, Greci hired Zipadelli as crew chief, and the team recorded five wins between 1990 and 1993.

McLaughlin departed Greci's operation at the end of the 1993 season, but Zipadelli stayed with the team in 1994 and 1995 and worked with several series drivers. Zipadelli's determination paid off in 1996, when another modified standout, driver Mike Stefanik, joined the Busch North team with considerable sponsorship backing. While no wins were recorded that year, eight top-five and nine top-10 finishes laid the groundwork for a championship season in 1997. Stefanik won the Busch North title that year with two wins, 14 top-five finishes and 16 top-10 finishes, giving Zipadelli his second NASCAR touring series championship.

In 1998, at the age of 29, Zipadelli decided it was time to head south to join Roush Racing's Cup operation as the chassis specialist for the No. 99 team of driver Jeff Burton. With Zipadelli's great recommendations for chassis setups, Burton won twice, scored 18 top-five and 23 top-10 finishes and to finish fifth in points.

When team owner Joe Gibbs began laying the groundwork for a second team with Tony Stewart behind the wheel to join his Interstate Batteries No. 18 team, he conferred with veteran Joe Gibbs Racing crew chief Jimmy Makar as to who would be the best choice to lead the No. 20 Home Depot Racing Team. Makar's quick answer and strong recommendation was Greg Zipadelli.

Gibbs didn't hesitate, and the rest is history.

With two Nextel championships already in the books with Stewart, three seems a logical bet for "Zippy," as he's known in the garage area.

Zipadelli makes his home in Mooresville, N.C., with his wife Nan, son Zachary and daughter Elwina Sophia.

Thanks for the nice comments, Henry, and enjoy your retirement.

(NAPS)—The number of charter schools continues to grow. Today, more than a million children attend over 3,600 charter schools in 40 states and the District of Columbia. In the past decade, the average number of charter schools in each state grew from 25 to 90. While such schools serve a real need in the community, many people are still unsure what a charter school really is. Few people realize they are public schools. Jill Jackson's HOLLYWOOD

Cameron Diaz

HOLLYWOOD ... Loni Anderson has her Beverly Hills manse on the market for $150 million. You read that right, $150 MILLION, and that's cheap compared with some of the others in that area. The former Mrs. Burt Reynolds' "digs" has five bedrooms and six bathrooms, a family room, a wet bar, fireplaces and a view of the city. Loni moved in when their son was only 2. He is now 17, and she would just like a change of scenery. At the moment she plays Tori Spelling's mom in the comedy series "So NoTORIous." As for her relationship with Reynolds ... they remain friends.

This one should be a hoot. Adam Sandler and Kevin James have signed on to co-star in "I Now Pronounce You Chuck and Larry." It's about two heterosexual firefighters who pose as a married gay couple in order to qualify for the department's domestic partner benefits. But Jessica Biel, an attorney who represents the couple, comes along and suddenly she is the object of Sandler's affection. Complications arise, natch, and you'll have to see the movie to find the resolution to the problem.

It's been a month now since the Mel Gibson brouhaha. However, it will be a long time, if ever, before it's forgotten. Just in case you didn't know, he'd had a few nips, then traffic trouble, an altercation with the cops, and some slurred racial remarks. Since then, he has apologized profusely for his behavior, but bet your last buck he can't erase it.

Youngsters today are so lucky. So many more opportunities to pursue a chosen career. Madeline Carter, 15, of Pass Christian, Miss., wants to be a screenwriter. So, she came to Hollywood, visited with her uncle Beau Deshotel (Interior Designer to the Stars) and attended the New York Film Academy's Summer Camp at Universal Studios. Here she learned everything about film-making from working a camera, to editing, to screenwriting and on and on. Now when she arrives permanently in Filmtown she will know exactly how to approach a career.

Nicole Kidman's next is "The Golden Compass," about a girl who discovers she is in the middle of a dangerous and hideous conspiracy, and the fate of many children rests with her. Kidman will play Mrs. Coulter, a mysterious and sinister scholar with a past linked to the girl, played by Dakota Richards. In her private life, Nicole is anything but sinister and is now happily married. And to those of you who have asked. Yes, she is a natural blonde, as far as I know.

It's been a while since Cameron Diaz has made a movie. Meanwhile, she and the love of her life, Justin Timberlake, have been on the sand and in the water around Hawaii with never a worry what the sun will do to her fair skin. And to Janie G. of Columbus, Ga. No, I don't think Cameron and Britney are friends, even though Timberlake and Spears were once a duo. However, you never know what the future may bring.

BITS 'N' PIECES: Harrison Ford gets the Aspen Filmfest's "Independent by Nature" Award in Aspen, Colo., come September. It goes to an artist "whose body of work has redefined the movie experience." Whatever that means. ... I kid you not. There were actually 1,400 candidates for the role of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind," and only one for Rhett Butler. ... Didya know Sam Elliott's first feature credit was in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid"? His latest is in "Barnyard," now playing. ... And to Vivian G. of Atlanta: Michael Lockwood is Lisa Marie's fourth husband. Did you forget Michael Jackson? ... AND, no Paris sightings this week.

EIGHT INDEPENDENT-LEADE FRIDAY, AUGUST 11, 1922.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY NOTES

The Sacramento river registered two feet seven inches, United States guage at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. At the time this reading was taken the tide was out and is not a proper indication of the depth of the stream at this moment.

In tow of the steamer Red Bluff yesterday forenoon a large barge became stuck in a sandbar just north of the Southern Pacific bridge and remained lodged for several hours, even after strenuous efforts were made by the Sacramento Transportation Company to move the barge. Very few steamers are now able to navigate up river trips, and poke along very carefully, especially between the M street bridge and the mouth of the American river.

Fishing has been a dead letter in the Sacramento river for several weeks, only a few anglers who take pleasure in going after bass with hook and line.

The keel of another large barge was laid yesterday at the yards of the Sacramento Transportation Company at Washington. This is the fourth barge to be built by the corporation and measures 45 feet in width by 190 feet in length.

Last Monday evening were discharged by Judge Barry after complaint had been sworn against them by for disturbing the peace. claimed that threatened her on July 28th, but she could not repeat any of the threats issued by the

Mrs. Mildred Holmes and her little daughter have gone to Emigrant Gap to spend a few days in the mountains with Mr. Holmes, who is employed there at the present time.

After working for the Southern Pacific Company in the freight office for several years, Miss Sylvada McDonald has accepted a position as bookkeeper with the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Professor Case is doing considerable renovation in the public school building in preparation for the opening of school. In some of the rooms an entire new coat of paint is being put on by the professor and a good deal of carpenter work will be done later to place things in shipshape before the opening of school.

Although many Washington young men went out after deer on the opening of the season on August 1st, there has been a veritable scarcity of venison around the town since that date. Many of the hunters came back heartbroken at the stories told by other hunters, who had to keep out of the way of the deer so as not to be run over. A dozen or so who had gone to Bartlett Mountain came back hungry. Herman Garber, E. Garber and Ira Davis were fortunate enough in bagging one buck in Napa County, and since then have been crowing over their friends who came back empty handed.

A quiet wedding in Sacramento on August 2d united Frank Gabrielli, nineteen years, and Miss Julia D'Anis, twenty years. During a considerable period of time the young couple have been constant companions, so that friends were not at all surprised when the announcement of their marriage was made. Mrs. Gabrielli has been a very popular young lady in Washington since her girlhood. Temporarily they will make their home with the parents of the bride.

Friday morning the Forrett family with Mrs. Forrett, Sr., left here for a vacation trip to Santa Cruz, Los Angeles and points in Mexico. They expect to be gone for a month or more, taking in the various seaside resorts and will return over the Valley Route, via Bakersfield and Fresno.

B. Robbens, wife and children, accompanied by P. K. Graves and wife, left here last Sunday for Santa Cruz where they expect to spend about three weeks.

Last Wednesday Ben Moss was brought to the home of his mother here, after having been confined in a Sacramento hospital for several weeks. For a time after returning from Lake Tahoe his life was despaired of, but friends will be glad to learn that he is now rapidly improving.

A. J. Marty of the Monument Ranch with Lee O'Neil of the Sutter Basin left here last Monday for Reno, Lake Tahoe and other mountain resorts. They expect to be gone for a week or two, returning in time for the hop season.

Ed Van Olinda returned from spending several weeks at Brockway.

S. T. Rickard has returned from a camping trip in the Capay Valley.

The date of the opening of the Riverbank School for the fall term has been set by the trustees as September 11th. The following teachers have been selected: Miss Alyce Kingsbury, principal; Miss Loretta Johnson, Mrs. A. L. Case, Miss Adeline Wasterson. An election will be held August 14th for a special district tax to equip a new classroom in the school.

Mrs. G. Sobiela and daughter Betty of Pleasanton were recent visitors in Bryte.

Mrs. Fred Moser spent the week-end in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Todhunter of Folsom were guests yesterday at the home of Mrs. Jane Buckingham.

W. A. Parkinson and Clyde Crenshaw returned Friday from a two weeks hunting trip in El Dorado county. With Mrs. Parkinson, the former spent the week-end at Merced.

Mrs. Parkinson is now in San Francisco to attend the State Grand Council of the Order of Pocahontas.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Brash, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carlson, Mrs. A. A. Dassonville and daughter Helen, Mrs. Frank De Riso and Miss Marguerite Brash were members of a picnic party Sunday at Mormon Island.

Miss Nola Scott has gone to a Woodland hospital for treatment.

Wreckers are removing the T. C. Snyder home, destroyed last week by fire, and work will begin soon on rebuilding the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Du Four and son returned to Vallejo after a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lee. They were accompanied back to Vallejo by Mrs. Kate Todhunter, who will go on to San Francisco for the State Grand Council of the Order of Pocahontas.

NOYES HAS CLEAR FIELD FOR ASSEMBLYMAN HERE

Fred B. Noyes, candidate for the Assembly from the 8th district, which includes Yolo, Yuba and Sutter counties, seems to have open sailing for the position to which he aspires.

Although there are three candidates in the field, two of them seem to be depending on their reputations to elect them to office, while Fred Noyes is taking the trouble to go around asking for votes.

Noyes was in Washington, Freeport, Clarksburg, West Sacramento, Riverbank and the Netherlands District yesterday. He makes a splendid impression and, in addition, is blessed with the experience that should fit him to represent his constituency in first class style.

He was sheriff of Sutter county for sixteen years and under-sheriff for four years.

During the last legislative session he was clerk of four important committees, which gives him a thorough understanding of legislative matters. These committees which he served were Drainage, Swamp and Overflowed Lands, Corporations, Insurance and Mines and Mining.

Twenty-four years spent in Yuba City, where he has seen the orchard industry develop and grow to its present magnitude, have given Noyes a very thorough understanding of the problems of the horticulturist. This, together with his intimate knowledge of general farming, and his office experince as sheriff, will enable Noyes to serve his district in the Assembly in a competent and intelligent manner.

A man of wide acquaintance in Yolo, Yuba and Sutter counties, it is the belief of Noyes that the election returns on August 29 will be ample to give him the nomination from this district.

A FLOCK OF POLITICIANS VERY BUSY NOW

Yesterday was field day for the politicians looking for office in Yolo County, for not less than twenty were around town at all hours of the day.

It is funny to watch these men come once every four years to Washington and then expect the voters of this district to render them favors even without asking. Such is the case, however, and a sad case, too, to which this paper has drawn attention on more than one occasion.

Very true, some of the office-seekers are genial and sociable and drop in once in a while to say "howdy."

Yesterday the following were passing out cards around the post office, the barber shop, the meat market, the grocery store, the blacksmith shop, and other similar places: Roy Cole, J. Brannigan, R. G. Lawson, Lee R. Pierce, Fred Noyes, J. W. Monroe, and a few others.

SUPERVISORS PLANING SUBWAY

Woodland, Aug. 10.—At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors, Russell, Edson and Leinberger, with County Surveyor Proctor, were appointed a committee to confer with the officials of the Sacramento and San Francisco railroads at an early date.

The matter to be attended to is the proposed subway where the railroad and county road meet at what is known as the Riverview crossing.

A subway is very badly needed at this point, for the crossing as it is now is very dangerous to traffic.

NO HUNTING!

This is to notify the public that the California Fish and Game Commission has liberated herds of elk on our cattle range in Yolo, Lake and Colusa Counties. This range commences approximately four miles west of Rumsey, near and including the Ray House Range, extending up and including Cache Creek six miles, thence in a northeasterly direction, crossing Bear Creek approximately eight miles above the junction of of Cache and Bear Creeks and bounded on the east by Cortana Mountain and including that part of the range formerly owned by the Stovall-Wilcoxson Company, called the "Hamilton Place," which is the northern boundary.

Any one found hunting on these premises will be prosecuted according to law.

CARELESS HANDLING OF SHOTGUN BROUGHT DEATH

George E. Pratt, sixteen years and six months of age, died yesterday afternoon in the Krull Hospital in Sacramento following a gunshot wound in his back, inflicted through the careless handling of a loaded shotgun.

About 2 p. m., young Pratt with Jed Lee and Francis McTeer out hunting in the Reed orchard near Riverbank, were resting under a tree. It seems that Pratt wanted to move to another place and started to do so. He dragged his gun behind him and in some manner it was discharged, the charge of buckshot entering his back just below his ribs and remaining in the intestines.

An hour and a half after the accidental shot the young man passed away at the Krull Hospital in Sacramento where he was taken. Young Pratt had been warned about his carelessness in handling the loaded weapon by one of the farmhands on the Reed orchard, but he paid no attention to it.

Melvin C. Pratt, father of the boy, was notified immediately and had his son taken to the hospital. Pratt, Sr., is bus driver in Sacramento for the Travelers Hotel, the Land Hotel and the Sacramento Hotel.

An inquest will be held tonight by Coroner Skelton, the remains being at the undertaking parlors of Henry P. Ryan.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

The boy's mother is dead, but besides his father he leaves three brothers, Everal, Edward and Frank, and one sister, Bessie Pratt.

BABY'S DEATH CAUSED BY ARSENIC POISONING

Last Friday afternoon five-year-old Helen Almasoff of Riverbank was poisoned by eating pills found in a bottle that the child picked up in the automobile of a friend who had visited the family.

The pills being sugar-coated, tasted good to the child but they caused her death an hour after eating them.

A coroner's inquest held by Coroner Wilson rendered a verdict accordingly.

The funeral of the baby was held on Saturday, interment being in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Clarksburg, Aug. 4.—Carrying by more than a six to one vote, a bond issue of $75,000 for a new school building was authorized here. In Clarksburg the election carried 103 to 3, the vote in the entire district being 123 to 20.

The trustees plan to erect a concrete or hollow tile building of six rooms, auditorium, kitchen, teachers' rooms and other facilities of the modern type structure. Attention will be given particularly to the beautification of the grounds.

DEATH OF PIONERR LADY OCCURRED AT OAKLAND

Mrs. Sarah A. King, former well known resident of Yolo County, died last Saturday in Oakland at the age of eighty-four years.

Mrs. King came to Yolo County from New Hampshire in 1872 and settled on land now known as the Waldeck ranch near the Monument.

Until 1900 she was a constant resident of the place and left there in 1900 following the death of her husband.

Mrs. King was a respected resident of this district for many years and was known for her industry and goodheartedness.

Her death took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Helen Croasman.

She is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. Olive M. Greene of Sacramento, Mrs. Maude L. Hicks of Marysville, and by a foster son, M. Hugh Stockton of Sacramento.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Sept. 2, 1666, the Great Fire of London breaks out in the house of King Charles II's baker. When the fire finally was extinguished four days later, it had engulfed 13,000 houses and nearly 90 churches. An estimated 100,000 people were left homeless. Miraculously, only 16 people were known to have died.

• On Sept. 3, 1777, the American flag is flown in battle for the first time, during a Revolutionary War skirmish at Cooch's Bridge in Maryland. According to legend, Philadelphia seamstress Betsy Ross designed the new canton for the Stars and Stripes, which consisted of a circle of 13 stars and a blue background, at the request of Gen. George Washington. Historians have been unable to conclusively prove or disprove this legend.

• On Aug. 31, 1899, a Stanley Steamer, driven by F.O. Stanley, becomes the first car to reach the 6,288-foot summit of Mount Washington, N.H. The steam-powered cars not only climbed mountains, but often beat larger, gasoline-powered cars in races.

• On Aug. 29, 1949, at a remote test site at Semipalatinsk in Kazakhstan, the USSR successfully detonates its first atomic bomb, code name "First Lightning." According to legend, the Soviet physicists who worked on the bomb would have been executed by the Soviet government if the bomb had failed to detonate.

• On Sept. 1, 1959, Elizabeth Taylor signs with 20th Century Fox to make "Cleopatra" for a salary of $1 million. By the time she was 10, Taylor had signed with MGM and made her first picture, "There's One Born Every Minute."

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) The typically tidy Ram or Ewe might want to butt out until things are settled on the home front. But get involved and let your Ovine sense of order help restore domestic tranquility.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The Bovine's flair for fine-tuning complicated fiscal dealings comes in handy when an unexpected financial problem arises. Stay with it until it's resolved to your satisfaction.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Family aspects remain strong. There might be some unresolved difficulties, but continued attempts to smooth things over eventually prove to be successful. A major purchase looms.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) A promise that was made but never kept suddenly re-emerges in your life. You now have to decide if you're still interested in what it offers or if you've moved past it.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) People treat you as you wish to be treated. So if you want a change in your relationship, make it happen. Also expect someone to reveal some long-held secrets.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Stay with the decision you made, despite a sudden torrent of advice to the contrary from well-meaning people. Remember: You know your needs better than anyone.

BORN THIS WEEK: You like things tidy, with no loose ends. You also enjoy research and would make an excellent investigative reporter or scientist.

• We all know that when Apollo 11 landed on the moon in 1969, the first person to set foot on the lunar surface was Neil Armstrong, followed shortly thereafter by Buzz Aldrin. Ever wonder why Armstrong went first, and therefore went down in history as the first man on the moon? Reportedly, it was because he was the closest one to the door.

• Wine seems to be the "in" beverage these days. If you're among the hordes racing to the wine shops and spending ever-increasing amounts of money in search of the perfect bottle, consider this: In 1985, a single bottle of wine was sold for $160,000. And nobody even got to enjoy it — less than a year after it was purchased, the cork slipped down the bottle's neck and into the wine, ruining it.

Well, if you grew up in the '60s or '70s, you probably felt her influence, even if you don't recognize her name. She's the one who came up with the idea of the Tupperware party.

• "To clean blinds — and keep them clean longer — use sheets of fabric softener made for use in the dryer. The material is lint free, and the softener in it reduces static cling, as in dust clinging to those blinds. I do this a couple of times a year." — S.L. in Indiana

• Keep track of the capacity and dimensions of your cookware by using a permanent marker to notate the specifications on the bottom of each baking container. This way, when a recipe calls for a 13-by-9-inch baking dish or a 2-quart casserole dish, you can easily tell which one you need. This is especially important if you don't spend a lot of time cooking.
